It Takes All Different Kinds

Objective
To explore the different jobs a veterinarian can do to keep animals and people healthy.

Materials
- Activity Sheet: Veterinary Careers Word Scramble

Activity Procedure

National Standards:
- Science
  - 6.7 Science as a human endeavor
- English
  - 12.3 Evaluation strategies
  - 12.4 Communication skills

1. Ask students if they think that veterinarians only work in veterinary hospitals. Explain that veterinarians work in many different places, doing many different things. To help students begin to think about the different careers of a veterinarian, distribute copies of the Activity Sheet and have students complete it. When they are done, discuss the answers. (Answers: 1. space shuttle, 2. farm, 3. wildlife refuge, 4. aquarium, 5. public health, 6. circus, 7. veterinary hospital)

2. Next divide the class into groups and assign each group one of the settings discussed in the Activity Sheet.

3. Have students use the Internet or library to research the work that a veterinarian would perform in their assigned environment. Then have each group create a lesson (perhaps including a slide show) for second graders that includes a photo of a veterinarian in that setting and also the following information:
   - What is the name of this job?
   - In what setting do these veterinarians work?
   - What kinds of animals does a veterinarian treat in this job?
   - What types of tasks does this veterinarian perform?
   - Why is this job important?

4. Let groups present their lessons to a second-grade class (or if not possible, then have the groups take turns making presentations to each other).

EXTEND THIS LESSON

Language Arts
Divide the class into small groups and assign each one a setting in which veterinarians work. Then have the students work together to write a “Help Wanted” ad for a veterinarian in that setting. Suggest that they include a photo from the Internet and write in persuasive style to make the job sound appealing. Then have the groups exchange ads and provide feedback to each other.
